

Scott & Amy

Hello and thank you for taking the time to look at our profile!

We are eagerly awaiting the blessing of being first time parents through adoption. We met online, as so many are doing these days. Our first date was on September 1, 2012 and found we had an instant connection. We dated only a couple of months before we started planning our wedding!

Amy has known since she was a young teenager that she would not be able to have children. It's our hearts' desire to expand our family. We couldn't be more excited to be going down this path and to see what God has in store for us.

We know this is a difficult decision but we want you to know that we admire your strength and willingness to place your child in an adoptive home. We promise if you choose us we will love your child unconditionally, protect and guide them, and do our best to help them succeed in life.

We are so hopeful for our future relationship with you. We will keep the lines of communication open with you through pictures and letters and an email account just for you, if you're comfortable with that. We see this as a positive and healthy relationship to have, both between you and us and you and your child.

Thank you,

Scott & Amy

About Us

- Married for two years and loving every minute of it!
- We went to Ireland on our honeymoon because we both always wanted to go there.
- We have lots of family and friends around the country, we are all very close.
- We share similar goals, values and interests
- We are a loving and affectionate couple, we can't wait to share that love with a child!

About Scott

By Amy

Scott is a very smart, witty, and fun person. He loves to read, listen to books on tape, visit museums and watch TV documentaries. He loves learning about history especially of the United States. He is very patriotic and served in the Coast Guard. He is a wonderful husband and can fix everything around the house. Because of his work as an engineer he often makes things for our home rather than buy them. Lowes, the library and the book store are his favorite places outside our home. He has always been close to his family. His caring and giving nature will make him a wonderful father !

About Amy
By Scott

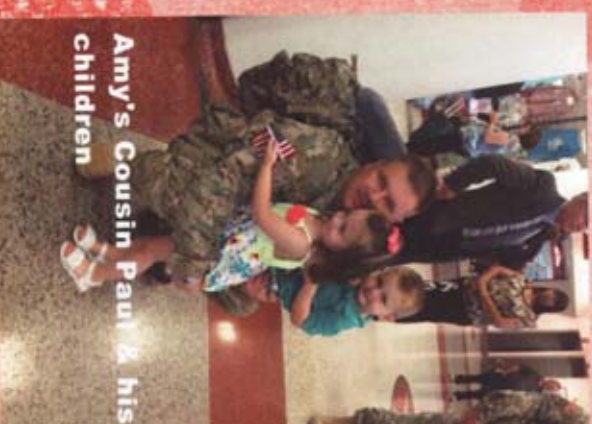

Amy is the most wonderful, funny, and thoughtful person. She loves dogs, children, her family, entertaining and decorating our home. She also loves to garden and keep our yard decorated with beautiful flowers and shrubbery. Her favorite TV shows are British mysteries and detective stories. She has been a Sunday school teacher and loves being with children of her friends and her cousins. Her unselfish nature, caring and warm personality are why she will make the perfect mom!

Thank You!

Thank you for taking the time to view our profile.

We are excited at the possibility of becoming parents and look forward to an open relationship with you.

We promise to love your child unconditionally, instill the desire for education and learning, love of family and friends and the importance of belief in God. We plan to expose him/her to other cultures through travel and support all their hopes and dreams.

We are looking forward to carrying on our family traditions and establishing new ones.
